Romeoville is first in Illinois to Advance Technology on Bike Trails

The Village of Romeoville will be the first in Illinois to showcase QR codes along ComEd trails. Using a free QR/barcode scanner on their smartphones, users will have access to a variety of fitness videos. These exercise videos are updated monthly.

"We strive to improve and expand our recreational opportunities. By combining technology and fitness, we are able to be innovative and provide this amenity on our trail system," said Director of Parks & Recreation Kelly Rajzer.

The QR codes are anticipated to be installed by early Fall.
